(June 2020) (Find out how and when to delete this template message) Bihar, a state of India, currently has 38 district administrative districts in Bihar, 101 subdivisions (अनुमंडल) and 534 CD blocks. A district of an Indian state is an administrative geographic unit, headed by a district magistrate or deputy commissioner, an agent belonging to the Indian Administrative Service. The district magistrate or deputy commissioner is assisted by a number of officials from different wings of the state administrative services. A police superintendent, an officer of the Indian Police Service, is responsible for maintaining public order and related matters. 3 to 6 districts are formed to form a division (मंडल). Each district is divided into sub-divisions (अनुमंडल), which are still subdivided into CD blocks (मंडल). Location map of BiharBihar MapRiver Map of the bihar bihar mapbihar rail network map bihar, located in the eastern part of India. It is the third largest state by population in India, while the 12th in terms of area. It covers an area of 94,163 km2 (36,357 square miles). The bihar fork took place on November 15, 2000, and a new Jharkhand state was born. Bihar is divided into 38 districts. The state shares its borders with Uttar Pradesh to the west, Nepal to the north, the northern part of West Bengal to the east and Jharkhand to the south. The state has a rich history and culture that goes back to antiquity. It was once a great centre of learning and many powerful empires came from here. It was also the center of Buddhism because religion came from here. During the 6th centuries BC to the 4th century BC) mahajanpada or the Veda period, Magadha (the Bihar region) was one of the 16 kingdoms that existed in ancient India. But, it soon came to encompass the other kingdoms and in the time of Mauryas, especially Ashoka who was the greatest emperor of India, its scope had spread to include parts of Iran and Afghanistan. Both Gaya is associated with the revered sage Buddha because it is here that he gained enlightenment under a pipal tree. Some prominent universities of ancient times of India are: Nalanda University located about 55 miles southeast of Patna and Vikramashila one of the important places of learning in India during the Pala Dynasty, located near the district of Bhagalpur in Bihar. The decline of Bihar began during the medieval period with the advent of Muslim leaders. After the Battle of Buxar, Bihar came under British rule and became part of the Bengal presidency. In 1912, Bihar and Orissa were separated from the presidency of Bengal, while on 1 April 1936, Bihar and Orissa (now Odisha) became two separate provinces. After India's independence in 1947, it became part of independent India. Currently, Bihar has one of the fastest growing economies in terms of state's national product. Primarily an agricultural economy, the state is one of the largest vegetable producers in the country. It is famous in the horticultural sector. The production of different types of fruit is important in Bihar. The state has also made considerable progress in the industrial sector with an oil refinery in Barauni and a power plant in Muzaffarpur. A satellite town located in the Patna metropolitan area, Fatuha is well known for its agricultural tractor and scooter industries. Bharat Petroleum's gpl bottling plant also operates from Fatuha. In addition, bihar is also known for the sugar industries. Bihar is a fascinating tourist destination and is known for its monuments and relics dating from antiquity to medieval times. Some treasures worth visiting in the state are the tomb of Sher Shah Suri, the caves of Barabar - one of the oldest caves carved into the rock, the monastery of Vikramshila, buddha Smriti Park, the ruins of the ancient city of Vaishali, bodhi tree, and the mahabodhi temple. Takht Sri Patna Sahib, built by Maharaja Ranjit Singh in honor of Guru Gobind Singh Ji who was born in Patna. The official language of the state is Hindi. Urdu is the second language of Bihar. Other languages spoken by the inhabitants of the state are bhojpurī, Maithilī, Magahi, Bajika (Maithili dialect) and angika (considered one of the oldest languages in the world) of these other languages; The government of India recognizes only Maithili, which got a place in the eighth calendar of India's constitution. Bihar is home to many educational institutions. Some of the state's leading educational institutes are the National Institute of Technology, the Indian Institute of Technology, the Indian Institute of Management, the National Institute of Fashion Technology and AIIMS. Other major institutes are Patna University, Aryabhata Knowledge University, Bihar Agricultural University, B. R. Ambedkar Bihar University, Mahatma Gandhi Central University, and others.
